

With Support:

BIRDS SPECIES IN UPPER KINTA BASIN¹ (Near-Threatened & *Vulnerable; IUCN 2017)

Chloropsis cyanopogon
Lesser Green Leafbird

Pycnonotus cyaniventris
Grey-bellied Bulbul

Argusianus argus
Great Argus

Caloperdix oculus
Ferruginous Partridge

Psittinus cyanurus
Blue-crowned Hanging Parrot

Otus sagittatus*
White-fronted Scops-owl
(Vulnerable)

Psittacula longicauda
Long-tailed Parakeet

Phaenicophaeus diardi
Black-bellied Malkoha

Harpactes diardi
Diard's Trogon

Harpactes duvaucelii
Scarlet-rumped Trogon

Calyptomena viridis
Asian Green Broadbill

Malacopteron affine
Sooty-capped Babbler

Eurylaimus ochromalus
Black and Yellow Broadbill

Macronous ptilosus
Fluffy-backed Tit-babbler

Platylophus galericulatus
Crested Jay

Aegithina viridissima
Green Iora

Oriolus xanthonotus
Dark-throated Oriole

Pycnonotus squamatus
Scaly-breasted Bulbul

Platysmurus leucopterus
Black Magpie

Iole olivacea
Buff-vented Bulbul

Stachyris maculate
Chestnut-winged Babbler

Enicurus ruficapillus
Chestnut-naped Forktail

Stachyris nigricollis
Black-throated Babbler

¹Based on Upper Kinta Biodiversity Assessment Report under UNDP-GEFS project on Mainstreaming Biodiversity in River Management

Interesting Facts!

- ❖ 132 birds species from 46 families recorded.
- ❖ 109 sp. (fully protected status), 11 sp. (protected status) & 12 sp. (excluded) – based on Act 716
- ❖ 109 sp. (Least Concern), 22 sp. (Near Threatened) & 1 sp. (Vulnerable)